Why Salamanca Risk Management?

Salamanca has built up a reputation for providing high quality risk consulting and enabling services. Through our industry exposure we have access to experienced, high calibre British and International operatives drawn from a range of backgrounds including specialist military, police, and intelligence services, who alongside legal, communication and environmental professionals, are capable of delivering discreet, effective operations in support of our client objectives.

We aim to deploy the best operational teams in the industry. We take maximum advantage of being a smaller, more agile provider, to produce a high quality, client focused product rather than some of the more common template solutions often produced by bigger suppliers.

Global Reach

Through our international offices and network of partners we achieve global reach with presence and functionality in The Americas, Africa, Middle East, Asia, Australasia, Europe and Russia. We are renowned for our ability to deliver a quick and incisive response and our client portfolio bears testament to our levels of service.

Expertise and Performance

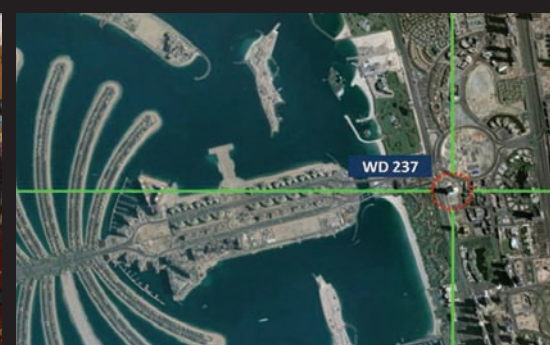

Our strong history of delivering client satisfaction is based around our in-house expertise, coupled with the deployment of the best consultants and contractors in the industry. We are valued by our clients for our responsive and rapid reaction to demands and the ever changing operational environment.

Pricing

We recognise the need to provide our services at an attractive rate. Our business is set up to pass efficiency onto our clients in the form of value for money and quality of service.
